

Information Guide | New Haven

Welcome to Rare Book School!

FOR OVER THIRTY YEARS, the bibliographical community has been supported and nourished by the work of Rare Book School (RBS). From its tentative beginnings at Columbia University, the School has educated two generations of librarians, collectors, academics, conservators, and booksellers, producing a network of loyal alumni, talented faculty, and dedicated friends around the globe. In the process, it has also earned a reputation as the world’s premier institution for the study of bibliography and book history. We are delighted that you will soon be a part of that distinguished tradition, and of our School’s promising future. We look forward to welcoming you to New Haven for your Rare Book School course.

This Information Guide should answer most of your questions about transportation, housing, and other practical matters. Upon arrival, you’ll also receive a copy of the Student’s Vade Mecum with additional information to ensure that your stay is as productive and enjoyable as possible. (N.B. Please bring the present guide with you when you come to RBS; it contains valuable information not repeated in the Vade Mecum.) In the meantime, we eagerly await your arrival, and look forward to another wonderful session!

RBS in New Haven

NEW HAVEN was founded in 1638. Known as the Elm City, New Haven has grown in size and culture over the last three centuries, becoming a perfect blend of urban sophistication and traditional New England charm. It is also home to one of the most prestigious universities in the United States, Yale University. Yale was founded in 1701 and is home to a number of prominent libraries, including Sterling Memorial Library, Beinecke Rare Book & Manuscript Library, and the Lillian Goldman Law Library. Other places to visit in New Haven include the New Haven Museum and the Yale Peabody Museum of Natural History.

This year, New Haven will host four Rare Book School courses: “The Book in the Manuscript Era,” taught by Raymond Clemens; “The Books of the Plays: Shakespeare & Print,” taught by David Scott Kastan; “Integrating Born-Digital Materials: Archival Standards & Approaches,” taught by Bill Landis and Gabriela Redwine; and “Advanced Seminar in Medieval Manuscript Studies,” taught by Barbara A. Shailor.

We’re excited that you’ve decided to join us in New Haven this summer, and we want to do all we can to deliver an exceptional educational experience. If you have any questions about the courses, or about RBS generally, please email us at rbsprograms@virginia.edu.

The RBS Week

All RBS students are expected to be in attendance and on time for all regularly scheduled classes, labs, and field trips. This is to ensure the quality and community of RBS as a School, and we insist that participants attend all sessions of their courses, unless presented with the most extraordinary of circumstances. Practically speaking, this involves a full-time commitment of 4:30–6:30 PM Sunday, 8:30 AM–5 PM Monday through Thursday, and 8:30 AM–4 PM Friday. Please make your travel plans accordingly!

SUNDAY, 4:30–6:30 pm Opening Reception

RBS students will convene for registration and refreshments at BAR Nightclub (254 Crown Street). There will be a welcome talk at 5 PM. Once there, all students will receive a copy of the Student's Vade Mecum and a name badge. N.B. RSVP by email no later than 19 May (rbsprograms@virginia.edu).

Late arrival: We strongly suggest attending the Sunday night registration, but if you are unable to make it, please email us.

MONDAY through THURSDAY

8:15 am* Final Registration (Monday Only)

Registration for those not in attendance Sunday evening. Outside the library in which your course will be held.

8:30–10 am* First Period

Students attending H-20, H-125, and M-90 will have class in the Beinecke Library. You will need to check in with security before being shown to your classroom.

Students attending L-110 will have class in Sterling Memorial Library.

10–10:30 am Morning Break

Coffee and tea to be served in the Beinecke Mezzanine.

10:30 am–12 pm* Second Period

12–1:30 pm Lunch

Class breaks for lunch. There are several restaurants in the neighborhoods surrounding both locations; for ideas to get you started, consult the short list at the end of this guide.

1:30–3 pm* Third Period

3–3:30 pm Afternoon Break

Coffee and tea to be served in the Thain Family Cafe in Bass Library.

3:30–5 pm* Fourth Period

FRIDAY

8:30–10 am* First Period

10–10:30 am Morning Break

Coffee and tea to be served in the Beinecke Mezzanine.

10:30–12 pm* Second Period

12–2 pm* Lunch

Classes break for a long lunch. By tradition, though not compulsion, students take their instructor to a group lunch on Friday. Advance reservations are strongly recommended.

2–3:30 pm* Third Period

3:30–4 pm* Course Evaluations

Students receive course completion certificates and fill out RBS course evaluations.

4–6 pm Farewell Reception

Students gather for hors d'oeuvres at The Mory's Association located at 306 York Street.

EVENING EVENTS

MONDAY, 5:30 pm Evening Lecture

Join fellow students for a lecture by Kathryn James, Curator of Early Modern & Osborne Collections, Beinecke Library, in the Mezzanine at the Beinecke Library. Reception to follow.

Wednesday, 5:30–7:30 pm Reception at William Reese Company

William Reese Company maintains a large collection of first editions and antiquarian books, specializing in Americana and world travel. Join students, RBS faculty, William Reese, and his staff for a reception and a chance to peruse the collections at 409 Temple Street.

Before you arrive

Reading Lists

All RBS courses have advance reading lists or assignments that RBS instructors expect their students to complete before they arrive. These are outlined at www.rarebookschool.org/reading.

Students should come to class prepared. Those who have trouble locating required readings might try obtaining them through interlibrary loan (ILL), from used or antiquarian booksellers through the Antiquarian Booksellers' Association of America (ABAA), or online via sites such as www.bookfinder.com or www.vialibri.net.

Arrival & Departure Logistics

When thinking about your transportation arrangements, please remember that staying over Friday night after the last day of class can be an excellent idea, if you can swing it. Early-evening ground and air travel is seldom much fun anywhere, but it can be especially difficult on a Friday on the East Coast. Arriving a day early may also be a good idea, as it can provide an opportunity to settle in, overcome jet lag, &c. RBS first-timers are often surprised by the intensity of the experience, so be sure to get some sleep before classes start!

Problems

Please let us know if you encounter problems on any front. If such problems occur before you arrive, email (rbsprograms@virginia.edu) or telephone us (434-924-8851, 8:30 AM–5 PM; voicemail after hours). If you encounter issues with tuition payments, contact RBS Accounting Specialist Michael Taylor at 434-243-2920, or by email (michael.taylor@virginia.edu).

Should any difficulties arise during the course, please bring your concerns to a faculty member, a course follower, or contact us at Rare Book School.

Accommodations

The most economical option for students is to stay with Yale Conference Services in the dorms. RBS has arranged for a small number of rooms in Baker Hall, an air-conditioned complex with suites containing two single bedrooms, a furnished living room, a full bathroom, and a kitchenette including a two-burner range, refrigerator, microwave, and sink (no kitchen utensils, dishes, soap, shampoo, etc. are provided). Each bedroom in the suite costs $95 per night (tax and registration fee not included). Sheets, blankets, pillows and bath towels are provided. Also in the building are several activity spaces, including lounges, a formal common room, computer rooms, a TV room and laundry facilities. A meal plan for the week can be purchased for $25. More details are available at the registration website. Parking passes can be purchased for $8/day when you check in. To request on-campus housing, please fill out the online form at the Yale Conferences & Events website for RBS participants: <https://www.regonline.com/rarebookschool2017>.

If you are looking to stay in a hotel near Yale, RBS suggests choosing The Omni (155 Temple Street, New Haven, CT 06510; 203-772-6662). RBS can also recommend the Courtyard New Haven at Yale by Marriott, which is also close to the University (30 Whalley Avenue, New Haven, CT 06511; 203-777-6221). Please be advised that there are other events happening the same week, so hotels may fill rather quickly.

Transportation

Air Travel

The closest airport to Yale is Tweed New Haven Regional Airport (HVN; 203-466-8833). The trip from Yale to Tweed Airport takes around ten minutes by car but can also be made using public transportation.

Driving to New Haven

The main north-south route into New Haven is Interstate 95, one of the nation's busiest, and potentially most frustrating highways. Coming from points to the west of the city will usually involve a combination of either I-80 E and I-95 or I-84 E. No matter what route you take, know that rush-hour traffic can be intense.

Taking the Train

If your place of embarkation is on the Northeast corridor it may be more convenient and affordable to use Amtrak (www.amtrak.com; 1-800-872-7245) as your means of travel. New Haven-Union Station NHV (50 Union Avenue, New Haven, CT 06519) is the closest station to Yale University. From there you can easily catch the Shore Line East Rail to New Haven-State Street to get closer to the university itself.

Advance Advices

What to Bring

At RBS, dress is business casual for all events. June in New Haven is typically rather pleasant with highs around 77 degrees and lows around 56 degrees. With these temperatures and classroom comfort in mind, sweaters are recommended. In general, bringing comfortable shoes and an umbrella is also a good idea.

RBS participants are encouraged to come to class prepared, and are required to be on time. Bring a watch. If you wish to take notes, plan accordingly. Pencils, paper, and other supplies are available at nearby convenience stores. Before leaving home, check the course description and the reading list on the RBS website for specific instructions on what to bring. (It is not, for instance, always necessary to bring copies of your advance reading.) Other inside tips on what to bring can be found in the previous year's course evaluations, also available on the course webpage.

Pharmacies & Medical Facilities

There are three pharmacies near Yale University. The nearest pharmacy to the west of campus is Chapel Street Pharmacy (1245 Chapel Street, New Haven, CT 06511; 203-777-2227). There is also a nearby Walgreens (88 York Street, New Haven, CT 06511; 203-752-9893) and a Rite Aid (66 Church Street, New Haven, CT 06510; 203-777-7248).

The closest hospital to Yale University is Yale-New Haven Hospital (20 York Street, New Haven, CT 06510; 203-688-4242). As always, if you need immediate help, dial 911.

New Haven Restaurant Guide

Thanks to the presence of such a long standing university, New Haven has a varied and highly praised restaurant culture. Such variety also extends to its food truck vendors. Some reliable options in the area may be found at <https://www.foodtrucksin.com>. The list of restaurants below are all reasonably priced options around Yale and should give you a good start.
